

CHAMBER TO MEET RAIL OFFICIAL

Reading Passenger Agent to Be Here at Public Meeting
Tuesday.

STOCK YARD SUGGESTED

Proposition Will Also Be Discussed at
Open Meeting. Chamber to Drive
For New Members.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Friday evening, preparations were made to meet the General Passenger Agent of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. The railroad official has been in communication with officers of the Chamber, trying to arrange a conference with the business men and all who are interested in shipping goods over the railroad. He desires to find out what the people of Gettysburg need in the way of freight and passenger facilities, and to try to meet the demands of the town along these lines. The meeting to which the public is invited will be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the office of George C. Fissel.

At the same time the proposition of establishing a stock yard here will be discussed, with the idea of interesting the Reading company to build one here on some of their vacant land. The idea contemplated is the same as that in operation in Lancaster, where the yard is controlled by the Lancaster Stock Yards Association. Cattle is shipped in from the West, fattened, and then reshipped. The cattle are either bought by the farmers outright, or upon a co-operative basis. As from 1500 to 2,000 cattle are fattened in Adams county every year, the project is one of importance, the directors believe.

The Chamber of Commerce, which now includes about fifty members, is contemplating launching a drive for new members. The directors believe

VETERAN DROWNS SELF

Former Soldier at Camp Colt a Suicide in Philadelphia.

Daniel Kane, 24 years old, of Philadelphia, and former soldier at Camp Colt, committed suicide by jumping into the Schuylkill river in Philadelphia Wednesday night. While hundreds looked on, he leaped from the Walnut street bridge and drowned before the police boat Reburn could reach him. The crew of the Reburn then dragged the river and soon recovered his body which was identified by papers in the pockets.

Kane is survived by his parents, four brothers and a sister. They say he had been in excellent health, had no love affairs, and they knew of nothing that might have unbalanced his mind.

POST OFFICE HOURS JULY 4

On July 4 the Post Office will be open from eleven to twelve in the morning. The city carriers will make but one trip. The rural carriers will not make any trips that day, but rural mail may be obtained at the office during the hour that it is open for business.

NO PAPER MONDAY

Following an old custom, The Times will not be published Monday, the Fourth of July.

AGED WOMAN AND YOUNG GIRL DEAD

Mrs. S. A. Diehl Succumbs After
Lingering Illness From Heart Affection.

Mrs. Mary J. Diehl, wife of Rev. S. A. Diehl, York street, died Friday evening at the Warner Hospital after a lingering illness from chronic myocarditis. She was aged 78 years, 5 months and 26 days. She was admitted to the hospital several weeks ago and has been in a serious condition for a number of months.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jerry Hummer, Mummaburg, and Mrs. John Pinkbinder, Cheyenne, Wyoming, and one brother, John B. Hamilton, Washington street.

Mrs. Diehl was the daughter of the late William and Evaline Hamilton. She was born in Gettysburg and shortly afterward the family moved to the Hamilton farm, near Keckler's Hill. She taught school in Adams county a number of years before her marriage. Before coming to Gettysburg several years ago she resided at New Baltimore and Mt. Carmel where Mr. Diehl was pastor.

Funeral in St. James Lutheran Church Monday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. J. B. Baker officiating. Interment in the Evergreen cemetery.

DEATH CLAIMS GIRL

Bertha Skinner Succumbs To Attack
Of Appendicitis.

The death of Bertha Woods Skinner, older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Skinner, of Arendtsville, occurred Friday afternoon at three o'clock at the Warner Hospital from an abscessed appendix. She was aged 13 years, 9 months and 16 days.

She attended Sunday School and church services Sunday at the Arendtsville Lutheran Church and was about Monday, although complained of being ill. On Tuesday her condition became much worse and she was brought to the hospital here that afternoon and was operated on shortly afterward. Had she lived she would have entered the Arendtsville High School in September.

Beside her parents she is survived by one sister, Helen, at home. Funeral Monday morning with services at the residence in Arendtsville at 8 o'clock and further services at the residence of her uncle, H. W. Skinner, 248 Lincoln Way East, Chambersburg, at 11 o'clock, both services to be conducted by Rev. D. T. Koser. Interment in the cemetery at Chambersburg.

MONUMENT MUST GO

Sons of Veterans Take Action on Status of Booth.

Resolutions were passed at the regular meeting of the Gettysburg Camp, No. 112 Sons of Veterans held in the post room of the Corporal Skelly Post of the Grand Army of the Republic Friday evening that "our representatives in Congress, Hon. P. C. Knox, Hon. Boise Penrose and Hon. E. S. Brooks be requested to do everything possible to have the obnoxious monument (that erected in honor of Wilkes Booth, slayer of Abraham Lincoln, at Troy, Alabama) removed and destroyed and the person or persons guilty of its erection punished."

CAMP ALONG CREEK

Thirty members of the Sons of Veterans, a military branch of the camp, will go into camp this afternoon below the Marsh Creek bridge on the Fairfield road and remain there until Monday evening, under full military discipline. Guard mount and dress parade will be held Sunday and Monday mornings at ten o'clock.

WILL OBSERVE THE DAY QUIETLY

No Patriotic Demonstrations
For Independence Day. Tourists
Will Flock Here.

MANY WILL LEAVE TOWN

Two Main Sporting Events. Excellent
Road Conditions Will Bring Record
Crowd of Holiday Visitors.

Independence Day and Sunday, the fifty-eighth anniversary of the end of the battle of Gettysburg, will be celebrated quietly by the residents of Gettysburg, although there are indications of the largest holiday crowd of tourists for the season. There will be no patriotic demonstration of any kind, and many not interested in the tourists have made plans to leave for a nearby creek or the mountains for a day's outing.

Pen Mar will attract large numbers from this section as will other amusement parks in this section. There will be the usual family picnics along the creeks.

Two sporting attractions are on the schedule for the day here and they will attract those who do not care to leave town. The big event of the day is the Merchandise Shoot of the Gettysburg Rod and Gun Club to be held at the traps near the Kurtz Playground. Marksmen from Cumberland, Franklin, York and Adams counties will be on the firing to compete for the prizes offered by various business men of town. The shoot is to start at 10 o'clock in the morning and will continue through the afternoon.

In the morning at Nixon Field, the Gettysburg Independents will line up against New Oxford and baseball fans will have an opportunity of seeing these rivals in action. The same teams will meet in New Oxford in the afternoon.

With road conditions the best they have been in this section for the past two years, hotel and restaurant men are looking for the largest week-end travel in many months. The entire

CURB MARKET ACTIVE

Truckers Complain Standard Is Far
Below That Of Other Years.

This morning's curb market was up to other Saturday markets of the year but far below the standard set in other years. There were comparatively few vegetables for sale and they were of a fair quality. Black berries and raspberries were again in abundance with prices unchanged. Raspberries sold readily at twenty five cents a box, while red raspberries brought thirty and black berries twenty. Apples or varying sizes sold from ten cents a quarter of a peck to fifty cents a half peck.

Buying was brisk shortly after the opening and the better offerings were sold out quickly.

MURDER SUSPECTED

The body of Claude Hinkle, 39, former resident of Littlestown, was found under the Murray avenue bridge, Pittsburgh, Friday. His death is believed to have been the result of an attack by highwaymen. The bodies of two others were found by the Pittsburgh police during the day, all three of which are believed to have been the victims of highwaymen. Mr. Hinkle has been residing in Canton, Ohio.

The murdered man was the son of the late John Hinkle, of Littlestown, and Mrs. J. D. Mayers, Littlestown. He is survived by a wife and two sons and the following brothers and sisters:

Hugh Hinkle, Camden, New Jersey; Dr. Edgar Hinkle, Pittsburgh; Ralph Hinkle, Dalton, Georgia; Mrs. Fannie Star and Mrs. Burton M. Alteman, of Littlestown. Burial will probably be made in Littlestown.

SOIL SPECIALIST SPEAKS

J. B. R. Dickey Addresses Meeting
Of Mt. Joy Association.

J. B. R. Dickey, soil specialist of State College, discussed plans with the Mt. Joy Community Association for fertilization as a community proposition. A fair sized audience was present.

A good growth of clover pays, he declared, in that it lessens the necessity of applying nitrogen in a commercial form. He scouted the idea that is held by some that acid phosphate sours the soil, declaring it was unsound. Nitrogen may be applied to grass, he said, unless hay is made for more than a year, adding that readily available nitrogen is valuable to give corn a good and healthy start as is the case in late sown wheat.

ASK FOLLOW-UP REPORT

County Medical Director C. G. Crist, Gettysburg, has been requested by the Division of School Health, State Department of Health, to return the follow-up reports covering the correction of defects found among school children in their respective counties. A new card record will be furnished the medical school inspectors next year by the State Department of Health to enable the teachers and health committees in the work of correcting defects.

FLYING HOBO HERE WITH AIR LIZZIE

Son of Congressman Riddick, of Montana, Wandering Over Country.

BLOWS TIRES TAKING AIR

Takes up Passengers to Pay Expenses.
Plane Dubbed "Flying Hearse" by Army Officers. Looks a Wreck.

Merrill K. Riddick, the "hobo of the air," who narrowly escaped arrest at Washington for attempted suicide when army officers dubbed his plane a "flying hearse," and stated that it would be the height of foolhardiness to attempt a flight in it, dropped into Gettysburg Friday morning, landing near the Annie M. Warner hospital. When he tried to take the air again he ran into a field of shocked wheat, breaking several guy wires and blowing out his tires.

Accompanied by a friend whom he had picked up in Frederick, he came to a local garage for repairs and gasoline. Gomer Sharp, of Gettysburg, who did some soldering for him and took gas out to the plane was rewarded by a short flight over town. In taking off the plane tore through a potato patch and, as it soared into the air, was followed by the shouts of the irate owner. As far as can be determined no one else risked any aerial voyage with "the flying hobo," who buys his gasoline and pays other expenses by taking up passengers at the reasonable price of four dollars.

Riddick came here from Frederick, where he had been giving flights and where his plane was damaged when overturned in a wind storm. He left here soon after noon Friday and was headed presumably for Hanover or York, on his way to Philadelphia.

Riddick is the son of Carl W. Riddick, Representative from Montana, and was an instructor at a government school during the war. He began his career of aerial vagrancy when he purchased his plane, a Curtiss two seater army training plane, for $3000 at a bargain sale in Dayton, Ohio. For some time he made flights in Texas and then started east, his plan being to make passenger flights along the way. Arriving at any small town and being in need of gasoline, repairs, a shave or a clean collar, he would scout around and find some native who wanted to risk a flight and had four dollars. After the exchequer was thus sufficiently replenished, he would continue on his way eastward.

Riddick's airplane, which has been

LIGHTNING HIT HOUSE

During the heavy electrical storm about three o'clock Friday morning, the home of Mrs. C. S. Reaser, Hanover street, was struck by lightning. Investigation revealed that the bolt had torn a small hole in the brick wall of the house. It had torn up about a dozen of the tiles in the bathroom and had blown them out in the hall. The plaster above the chandelier in the room beneath was torn loose and evidently the charge was carried off that way. There was no fire started and, although much frightened, none of the family was injured.

DR. ENDERS ENDS 39TH YEAR AT YORK

Former Pastor at St. James Church Here Minister For 55 Years.

Rev. George W. Enders, Sr., D.D., one time pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, Gettysburg, entered upon the fortieth year of his ministry at Christ Lutheran Church, York on Thursday. He will celebrate the day by uniting in marriage Charles Huson and Anna K. Worley, members of his congregation.

Dr. Enders who has served the Lutheran church continuously for 53 years, was graduated in 1864 from Hartwick Seminary, Hotsego county, New York, and began his career as a minister in the village of Maryland, N. Y. After building up the charge during his two years of service there, he was called to serve St. John's in Bridgetown, N. J. where he remained four years, coming then to St. James at Gettysburg. He remained here for two years and was called to his present charge in 1882.

During his thirty-nine years of service at Christ Lutheran the charge has flourished. There are about 600 members in good standing and the Sunday School membership is over 1200. While connected with this pastorate Dr. Enders has officiated at more than 1300 weddings, 1512 funerals, baptized 1856 children, and preached more than 7956 sermons.

GLEN ROCK ABLAZE

Fire thought to have been caused by a skyrocket Friday morning shortly after 2 o'clock, resulted in the destruction of a large part of the Read Machinery company plant, the two story warehouse, and three story store building of the J. F. & H. O. Neuhaus, hardware dealers, entailing a loss which may reach as high as $400,000, according to O. R. Read, secretary of the Read Company. The loss is entirely a matter of guess work at the present time. Mr. Read says, no estimate being possible, but his company's loss may be between $50,000 and $400,000. The loss on the Neuhaus property is estimated at $25,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

COUNTY NATIVE DEAD

Word has been received here of the death June 19 of Mrs. S. W. Anderson, native of Gettysburg, at Owensboro, Kentucky. She died suddenly after an illness of an hour. Death was caused by angina pectoria. She was seventy nine years of age, having been born here in 1842. While a young girl she went to Kentucky where she was married to Samuel W. Anderson, who with four daughters and two sons survive.

DEMPSEY STILL CHAMPION

DEMPSEY WINS BY KNOCKOUT IN 4TH

World's Heavyweight Champion
Gives French Challenger Unmerciful Beating.

FRENCHMAN WAS GAME

Carpentier Floored Near End of Third Round. Dempsey Dragged Defeated Contestant to His Corner.

Jersey City, July 2—Ringside—Georges Carpentier finished flat on his face, his legs and arms out stretched in the fourth round when Dempsey the world champion, heavyweight, knocked him out a few seconds after the round opened, sending him heavily to the canvas with a short right hook to the chin. The actual time of fighting in the fourth round was 1 minute and 16 seconds. Previous to the knockout Carpentier was floored with a left to the body and a right to the chin. Carpentier took the count of nine before springing to his feet, where the grim, determined Dempsey measured him with a punch to the chin, which ended the battle.

Dempsey stood over the fallen French idol until the count was finished, and tenderly picked up the bleeding and dazed Frenchman and dragged him to his corner. Dempsey gave Carpentier an unmerciful beating. He opened a cut under the challenger's eye and battered him so viciously around the head with vicious rights and lefts until Carpentier's face was swollen and bleeding.

Carpentier fought gamely back at the champion but he was outclassed. Once he was half knocked and half pushed through the ropes and most of the time he was going away from the champion. Dempsey kept after him driving him to his corner whenever he had opportunity. Carpentier was out only for a few seconds. Manager Deschamps applied first aid quickly as the dazed Frenchman dropped into his chair. Police immediately climbed into the ring and made path for champion and Carpentier to go to their dressing rooms.

Round 1. They were sent away at 3:16.

Carpentier landed a light left and clinched. Carpentier landed a right. They fought at close range in a clinch. Dempsey was short with a left to the head. Carpentier missed a right but connected with left. Dempsey punished him, beating him unmercifully. Carpentier was groggy and bleeding at the nose. Dempsey missed a right swing but beat Carpentier as they clinched. Carpentier fell through the ropes trying to avoid a punch. He flew into Dempsey when he crawled back into the ring, landed several blows in the champion's body. At the bell Dempsey had the better of the round.

TARIFF MEASURE WILL SATISFY

Is Declaration of Chairman Fordney, But is Not a Panacea For All Ills.

WILL ASSIST INDUSTRY

System is Not a Cloak to Hide Increased Duties, He Says. Must Meet Severe Competition.

Washington, July 2—Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee in his first informal statement yesterday on the permanent tariff bill said he did not "herald it as a panacea for all national difficulties," but predicted that its effect upon American industry and American labor would be entirely beneficial.

Discussing the American valuation provision, Mr. Fordney said it had been contended that "the proposal was one to secure some sort of concealed protection" and that "it was a cloak under which import duties would be materially increased."

"Examination of the bill, however," he added, "will correct this erroneous impression. The committee has taken full cognizance of the fact that it is proposing higher values generally and has reduced the rates accordingly."

Claims Reduction in Rates

Comparison of the rates with the Payne-Aldrich bill, Mr. Fordney declared, "will indicate a reduction in rates."

"Where there is a very great disparity of production costs between a particular foreign country and America, the statement said, 'the assessing of ad valorem duties on American values will tend toward higher duties. Where foreign costs, however, are more nearly equal to American costs, the change to the American basis will have a tendency to reduce duties. This, however, is desirable, for in the first instance higher duties are essential to protect American industries, and in the second instance high duties are not required to afford protection.'

"The American valuation system will have a desirable equalizing effect on import duties and seems entirely in harmony with the effort of the committee to establish rates which will offset production costs here and abroad."

The Lumber Schedule

Discussing the lumber schedule, Mr. Fordney said:

Lumber is on the tree list. The clause authorizing the President to negotiate with countries imposing a duty on American finished lumber to secure the removal of such duties can hardly be misunderstood. Its purpose is very evident and its phraseology has been made unmistakable. It has been the effort of the committee to aid American trade by including bargaining provisions in the bill in several alternative ways and I believe these provisions will meet with general approval."

Under existing rates, Mr. Fordney said, many products, especially from Japan and Germany, were coming up on the American market at far less than the American cost of production, with displacements of American labor as the inevitable result.

To Meet Severe Competition

"The purpose of the bill," he added, "is to enable American industries to meet the severe competition to which they now are subjected."

The chairman said foreign cutlery, glassware and many kinds of textiles had supplanted similar domestic wares, but that the duty rate prescribed would revive and stimulate these industries at home.

christened at various times "the Flying Hearse," and "the Ford of the Air," shows signs of much service. The wheels are bound together with an old rope; the wings are covered with numerous patches; when the motor is running the wings shake like the top of the Turnerville Trolley on wings and fuselage are hundreds of scrawled names, which now include those of a few Gettysburg admirers. The aviator's baggage and outfit comprises, besides the rather tattered suit that he wears, an old palm beach suit, a well-worn straw hat, a few wrenches and a screw driver. The flyer, himself, below medium stature, and dressed in nondescript clothing, is much scarred by flying accidents. His bearing and manner indicate that he is a man of some education. His courage in flying his antiquated "ash can with wings" is undoubted. He intends to continue his wanderings as the pioneer hobo of the air. Some day, no doubt, the winged Lizzie will separate into its component parts before the flyer has an opportunity to pick out a soft spot to land.

RAIL WORKERS ARE UNDECIDED

Entire Wage Situation Placed in The Hands of Labor Leader.

Chicago, July 2—Railway union leaders last night were undecided on their final attitude toward the general 12 per cent wage reduction, which became effective yesterday on virtually every railroad in the country by order of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Despite considerable dissatisfaction displayed among employees, no reports of sporadic strikes or any serious threats of strikes were reported to the union chiefs here yesterday.

Approximately 1500 delegates from system organizations of the Big Four Brotherhoods, the shop crafts, the maintenance of way men, telegraphers, clerks and switchmen met here yesterday to canvass the situation. Heads of the Big Four and the 16 American Federation of Labor Unions held a short meeting yesterday morning before the officers separated to convene the organization meetings.

Placed in Jewell's Hands

The executives' meeting, it was said, took no action other than to place the entire wage situation in the hands of a committee headed by B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor. The other members are E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight, handlers, express and station employees; L. E. Sheppard, President of the Order of Railway Conductors; E. H. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers; Timothy Shea, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

FIGHTERS AT RING IN GOOD SPIRITS

Slept Well, Eat Hearty Breakfast, Yacht Brings Challenger. Dempsey Uses Auto.

(By Associated Press)

New York, July 2—Georges Carpentier, French challenger, arrived on yacht Lone Star at Pier B of the Pennsylvania docks here at 12:50 this afternoon.

The trip from Port Washington was without incident. The French pugilist ate light lunch on board, and also enjoyed an hour nap on the trip down the sound. Guarded by a large squad of motorcycle policemen, the challenger's party entered an auto and were escorted to the arena.

"I had a good sleep and feel fine," This was Carpentier's smiling comment as he came out of the house at Manhattan at 7:45 o'clock this morning. He arose at 6:30, indulged in 15 minutes of setting up exercises to open his eyes, as his trainer expressed it, and then had a tea-like breakfast at 8 o'clock.

Previous to his departure for Port Washington, where he went aboard the yacht Lone Star, he took little light exercise along the road, returning shortly after 9:30 o'clock. As he neared the house he walked arm in arm with trainer Wilson and his friend, Pierre Wallet, singing "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here," with a small crowd of admirers at his heels.

Dempsey Slept Well

Jersey City, July 2—"Never felt better in my life," remarked Jack Dempsey as he sat down to a light breakfast this morning in a private home here, where he spent the night. The champion slept without interruption from 10 last night until 7 this morning and awakened in a happy frame of mind. After breakfast, which consisted of two boiled eggs and toast, Dempsey, accompanied by Trainer Hayes, started out for a walk, but such a large crowd followed at his heels that he was forced to return to the house.

The champion did not let the coming bout affect his appetite. When the time came for dinner, Jack was the first among those present. He ate generous portions of steak, potatoes, string beans, and toast, and wound up with a large pot of tea. Before luncheon the champion engaged in a pool game with Mayor Bader of Atlantic City, who accompanied him here from his training quarters. Later Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, and a host of other city officials, called to pay their respects. Just before 1 o'clock Jack stole upstairs for an hour's nap before getting ready to go to the ring side.

WORLD WATCHES BUDGET MAKERS

President Calls Second Meeting of Government Officials on Subject.

DAWES HAS AUTHORITY

Harding Tells of War-Time Experience in Discussing Necessity For Establishment of a Budget Bureau.

Washington, D. C., July 2—President Harding called to order yesterday a second meeting of Government officials on the budget. After brief address he left the meeting and visited with Secretary Mellon in the latter's office before returning to the White House to preside over the regular Cabinet meeting.

Unlike that on Wednesday, yesterday's budget session was behind closed doors. It was attended by the 30-odd representatives of the Federal departments and agencies who have been named to gather information for Director Dawes, of the budget bureau.

President Harding told the budget makers there would be "many heart-burnings," but Director Dawes would "have all the authority of this Government back of him in a fight for reduced expenditures."

World Is Watching Experiment

"It isn't an easy thing to change the habits of a century," the President said. "It isn't an easy thing to stand up against those who want to spend. Our country is calling for a change, and if it will add to your interest in your work, let me tell you something else. The world is watching this well-resolved experiment."

"It is no violation of confidence to tell you that one of the distinguished diplomats now in Washington told me his country had already cabled him to keep close watch on every step of our budget enterprise and report on it. I take it that perhaps habits and practices of extravagance in governmental expenditure are not peculiar to the United States and the whole world would like to profit by our example."

"I have come this morning just to help establish the liaison and to assure you the executive is intensely interested in this enterprise under the command of General Dawes. I want you to give it your earnest support and know as far as the executive can return it, I promise you the assurance of appreciation. The rules to be promulgated this morning by General Dawes have been gone over deliberately, and he comes with full authority—that what he says in this matter is not questioned."

Relates War-Time Experience

Harding said he felt success of the budget undertaking lay "in a more intimate touch between those who are responsible for details and those who must report to the President." He told of a war-time experience as Senator when "the head of the Steel Industries

PRELIMINARIES EARLY

Jersey City, July 2—At 11:35 announcement was made at the ringside that Dempsey and Carpentier would fight at 3 o'clock rain or shine.

The first preliminary an 8 round bout was put on early in an effort by Rickard to clean up the preliminaries to permit an early start of the championship bout. It was between Johnny Curtin and Mickey Delmont, featherweights. In accordance with the New Jersey boxing law, no decision was rendered by the referee but Curtin was generally conceded to have outpointed Delmont.

At 1:15 it began to sprinkle but in a few minutes the rain ended. Announcement was made at 1:30 that "the house was sold out"—meaning that the 91,000 seats were occupied. Frankie Burns had an advantage on points in the second eight round preliminary. The third preliminary brought together Joe Metranaga, of New Orleans, and Babe Herman, of California. They were featherweights.

BANKER MAY FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

Stillman's Relations With Other Women May Cause Trouble.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 4—James A. Stillman, banker, faces criminal prosecution for his alleged relations with other women.

John E. Mack, guardian for Guy Stillman, named codefendant with his mother as illegitimate, in the banker's divorce suit, Thursday in hearings here, refused to grant any immunity to Stillman in the latter's cross-examination.

Request for immunity was asked by Stillman's counsel.

Mr. Mack's intention to have Stillman prosecuted criminally was revealed through controversy of counsel over Stillman's persistence in answering Thursday, as he did Wednesday, virtually all questions with his stereotyped refusal on the grounds that "it might tend to incriminate me."

Apparently exasperated at the efforts of the defense to drag something definite from Stillman, Cornelius Sullivan, attorney for Stillman, jumped to his feet, and exclaimed:

Makes No Promise

"This is all foolishness. This examination is taking the referee's time, our time and your time. I have told my witness for two days to answer as he has. I understand Mr. Mack intends to institute Federal proceedings against Mr. Stillman if he can. If Mr. Mack will say that that is not his intention, I will instruct Mr. Stillman to answer some of these questions."

Mr. Mack said he would make no promises of any kind.

"I certainly do intend, if the evidence warrants it, to institute criminal proceedings against Mr. Stillman," he said.

As he refused to answer any questions concerning his conduct with other women, cross-examination was shifted to questions concerning his relations with his wife, along lines bearing on the paternity of Guy. Mr. Stillman has charged that Fred Beauvais, a guide, is the child's father.

Mr. Stillman admitted he gave to Mrs. Stillman a ruby ring valued at several thousand dollars, just one week after the birth of Guy Stillman in November, 1918, and for Christmas that year, he testified, he presented to his wife a diamond bracelet.

Only a few feet away, as he testified, was Mrs. Stillman, whose contempt for her husband showed in the slight smile with which she greeted his continued refusal to answer questions concerning other women. Except for the smile of contempt she was studiously unaware of Stillman's presence and that fact seemed to nettles him as much as the lawyer's prodings.

Round Three. Carpentier slipped and ducked a left hook. Dempsey backed into the ropes and hit him a short right. Carpentier landed two upper cuts to the body in a clinch. As they clinched Dempsey punished the invader with short jolts to the body. Carpentier nearly fell down when he missed a right swing. They missed lefts to the head and Dempsey punished Carpentier viciously in the infighting. Dempsey landed a left and right to the head without a return. They exchanged left hooks. Carpentier's right swing was short and Dempsey clubbed him on the jaw with left hooks. Dempsey battered Carpentier to a corner with rights and lefts at the bell. The bell saved Carpentier from a knockout.

Round Four. Dempsey rushed Carpentier to the ropes and a left to the body made him wince. Carpentier landed a left and right to the head and tried to hang on. A left to the body and a right to the chin sent Carpentier heavily to the canvas, where he took the count of nine before springing to his feet, where the grim determined Dempsey measured him with a punch to the chin that ended the fight.

Jack Dempsey, World Heavy weigh champion, who spent the night at the home of William C. Heppenheimer, bank president and millionaire sportsman, left for the arena at 1:35 o'clock this afternoon. The champion went to the Tremont street entrance of the arena, virtually unobserved, at 2:02 p. m.

Ringside, Jersey City At 2:55 p. m. it was announced that the final preliminary had been eliminated.

Georges Carpentier entered the arena at 2:00. He went immediately to his dressing room. Carpentier's arrival was unnoticed by all save nine of the 91,000 spectators. These raised a cheer, but the midge demonstration soon was over. The challenger looked as dapper as ever.

Jersey City, Ringside, July 2—Gates to the big fight opened at 9:45 and in popped the crowd. Through the entrance on each side of the big wooden octagon poured the men and women who today were to witness Jack Dempsey, of America, and Georges Carpentier, of France, do battle for the heavyweight honors of the world.

Soon the saucer of yellow pine which when the sun was out glistened like bowl of brass was fleeted with humanity. But unlike an ordinary saucer it filled from the brim down instead of the bottom up for the first to arrive was the gallery gods with the periscope eye, who had camped all night outside the arena for the privilege of paying Promoter Tex Rickard $5.50. Gradually, however, the wave of humanity rolled down to the ringside as the more plutocratic ticket holders reached the stadium.

The early comers sat down to wait. They found three things to do. Debate the weather prospects which in the morning appeared dubious, admire the world's greatest arena in which 90,000 could be nestled as cozily as the proverbial sardine and speculate on future ringside history. And chatter it did, this democracy of the ringside. And fighting their way out to Boyle's 30 acres were coming thousands more from all parts of the great army which hopes this afternoon to witness the show of fisticuffs whose result would be flashed the world around. It was a case of fight to see a fight. The tubes under the Hudson river would have bulged with the mass of excited humans who tried to battle their way across to the Jersey side, the ferry boats plying their way over would have sunk under the perspiring cargoes that tried to board them and if every one who wanted an airplane at the last minute could have had one the very sun would have been obscured. But of course none of these dire things occurred.

What the fight fans saw when they arrived was a great hollow lying with men and women, a great hollow in which the Woolworth building could have lain down without scarcely having to draw in its neck. In the arena which fronts with a top most tier, flew at regular intervals the tri-color of France and the starry flag of America.

MONEY GULLIBLE

New York, July 2—Fake movie stock gobbled up $50,000,000 from gullible investors during 1920, says a report by the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, which has a vigilance committee trying to stamp out promoters of wildcat film companies.

Hundreds of such companies, often organized by men who did not even know the difference between a cut-back and a close-up, not to mention the distinction between an ordinary platonic kiss and the lingering fade-away, were trumpeted by stock salesmen who pointed to great financial achievements by well-known film makers as an assurance that investors would soon receive gobs of dividend checks, the report indicated.

But the investigating committee discovered that most of these wildcat schemes died without leaving a foot of film to posterity. It then started a campaign of warning to the public.

This, the association claims, has been successful. "The danger of this sort of investment has been called to the public's attention with such force," its statement said, "that very few if any new producing companies have attempted to sell stock within the past six months."

stretch of the Lincoln Highway from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh is open to traffic with the exception of two short detours, according to the weekly report of the State Highway Department just issued. The first detour is west of Greensburg and the other is between Caledonia and Chambersburg.

Travelers from the Harrisburg district are advised by the Highway Department to travel by the way of Dillsburg and Abbottstown in coming to Gettysburg. This road, which is but little farther than the direct route, is said to be in first class condition. The road from Maryland and the District of Columbia is excellent and this thoroughfare will bring thousands of visitors here during the next two days. Oiling operations on other roads leading into Gettysburg have practically been completed and the roads are rounding into first class condition.

With fair weather prophesied and the fact that the State Lincoln Highway Association has given publicity to the fact the transcontinental route is now open to easy motoring, Sunday and Monday should be record-breaking tourist days.

PEACE MEASURE TO PRESIDENT

Senate Passes Resolution By Vote of 38 to 19. Expect Harding to Sign.

Washington, July 2—Enactment of the compromise resolution ending the state of war with Germany and Austria finally was completed yesterday by Congress and the measure now goes to President Harding, who is expected to sign it within a few days.

Final action on the measure was by the Senate, which adopted the conference report by a vote of 38 to 19, after a day of debate in which the Democratic members made a last assault on the resolution. The House acted Thursday, the vote being 263 to 59.

Four Democrats With Majority
All Senate opponents of the resolution were Democrats, but the Democrats—Shields, of Tennessee, Walsh of Massachusetts and Watson of Georgia—voted with Republicans for adoption. Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, was paired in its favor.

The signing of the measure by the President will open the way for the resumption of diplomatic relations with both Germany and Austria, but Administration officers have indicated that plans for this have not been worked out.

Says It Ruins U. S. Rights
The peace resolution, Senator Brandegee said, does nothing but declare the war status at an end and reserve American rights.

"And in doing that I don't believe we hobble the President in any way," continued the Senator. "He voted for this very resolution here in the Senate and in most every speech during the campaign he said one of his first acts would be to sign such a resolution."

Senator McKellar asked if a treaty of peace would not follow the resolutions.

"Not a treaty of peace, no," said Senator Brandegee.

"But a treaty of commerce, to restore relations?" asked Mr. McKellar. "Oh, yes," Senator Brandegee answered. "But when the President signs this resolution we shall be at peace. There will be no need of a treaty of peace."

REV. N. W. KUNKEL WEDS

Rev. Norman Wilbur Kunkel, graduate of Gettysburg in the class of 1917, was married recently to Dorothy Huntington Coffin, daughter of Mrs. William H. Coffin, of Colorado Springs, at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Colorado Springs.

Mr. Kunkel is a graduate of Gettysburg college, class of 1917 and Union Theological seminary, of New York, in the class of 1921. He holds the degree of M. A. from Columbia university. During the war he was lieutenant in the artillery, receiving his training at Camp Taylor. For the past year he has been associated with Dr. Fordicks' church as director of the recreation work for men.

After a few days spent in the mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Kunkel will go to Blue Grass, a suburb of Davenport, Iowa, where Mr. Kunkel will be in charge of the Community Church recently built there.

WANT MONUMENT TO WOMAN MOVED

Carlisle Would Give Prominence to Statue of Molly Pitcher.

Carlisle, July 2—There is an undercurrent of opinion in Carlisle which is agitating the removal of the Molly Pitcher monument from the seclusion of the old graveyard to a more prominent place on the public square. It is pointed out by these favoring the movement that this marker, commemorative of one of the most interesting of the many historical happenings of old Carlisle, is far removed from the public eye, and only can be found by the tourist after an arduous search.

It is further suggested the monument could be placed on the Square facing the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad and be visible to every passing traveler. Every American is familiar with the history of this famous woman and her exploits at the battle of Monmouth, but comparatively few know she was a resident of Carlisle. The Soldiers' Monument could be moved in either direction so as to make possible the placing of the monument in this location. A well known member of the Chamber of Commerce made the statement that this would be one of the sure ways toward making Carlisle better known.

It is understood the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations would endorse the move. The Legislature would have to be petitioned relative to the removal, it was stated today. However, by securing the united support of the entire community this may be waived and the removal accomplished, according to another authority.

MT. HOLLY FIRE PROBED

An investigation by one of the Troopers from the local station, of the fire which destroyed the ice plant at Mt. Holly Springs on June 18, has determined that the cause was a burning gasoline tank, which took fire from a lighted lantern.

Mrs. Noel Cunningham, wife of the manager of the plant, and her brother, Arthur W. Kline, of Bethlehem, were seated in a Chalmers touring car belonging to the Cunninghams, having the gasoline tank filled by Edward Schaffer, who is employed at the plant. He carried a lighted lantern too close to the gasoline which is kept in an ordinary metal tank in a room in the ice plant, and the gasoline vapor caught fire. The flames ran along the hose to the automobile tank and the car was soon enveloped in flames, which spread rapidly to the ice plant and balked all efforts to extinguish them.

The automobile is a total loss, and is not covered by insurance. The ice plant buildings for which negotiations for sale were pending are damaged to the extent of $15,000, the loss not being covered by insurance. It is the property of McGovern and Company, Junk Dealers, of New York City.

A new motor apparatus which was due to be delivered to the Fire Department for demonstration did not arrive until the day after the fire.

OIL MEN BOAST OWN LANGUAGE

Technical Terms And Phrases Not Known Outside The Industry.

Tulsa, Okla., July 2—Oil men have a language all their own, as it were, for the oil industry, like others, has a number of more or less technical terms and phrases connected with it that are not generally understood outside the oil field districts.

For instance, "shooting a well" has an entirely different meaning from that applied in river navigation to the term "shooting the rapids." In the oil country the phrase means the lowering into the well of several dozen quarts of nitroglycerine and allowing it to explode in the bottom of the well in the oil sand.

Oil wells are drilled much like artesian water wells. A "rig," or tall pyramid framework, is erected over the spot where the well is to be drilled. At various stages during the sinking of the well it is cased in by steel pipe, the joints of which are screwed together, making a continuous pipe. This serves to keep out water and to keep the well from caving.

As the well is bored deeper, the size of the casing is reduced in order to keep putting it down inside of that already in place. Two or three changes, or possibly four, are all that are usually made in reducing the size of the casing.

If no oil is found the well is termed a "dry hole." If gas is found, it is a "gasser." A producing well is named according to the number of barrels of oil it produces in 24 hours, as a 50-barrel or a 500-barrel well.

Oil as it comes from the ground is called "crude oil." It is carried to the refining plants in pipe lines, iron pipes ranging all the way from 3 to 10 or 12 inches in diameter, or in railway tank cars. There it goes through the refining process.

Almost all oil men lease the land on which they drill, paying "royalties," from one-eighth to one-sixteenth of the value of the oil produced going to the owner of the land. A "location" is a piece of land on which a well is drilled. It varies from 300 to 500 feet square. Thus in a field that is closely drilled, each well will have wells on four sides of it between 300 and 500 feet away. These wells are known as "offsets."

A "tank farm" is a tract of land on which are located a number of large storage tanks for oil.

"Test wells" are the first wells drilled in a territory where oil has been discovered. "Wild cat" wells are those drilled in territory where geologists have not found rock formations that indicate the presence of oil. A "pool" is an underground supply of oil, or oil sand saturated with oil.

The "Mid-Continent" field comprises the state of Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Montana and New Mexico.

that an organization that is productive of such practical good to the community should include all the business men of the town. As the situation now stands the organization has about reached the limit of effectiveness permitted by its resources.

An effort is to be made to stimulate a more active interest among the present members. To this end, changes in the by-laws are contemplated, to have the entire body meet with the Board of Directors every other month. In this way it is felt that the members will be kept in closer touch with what is being done.

Committees appointed are as follows: Mercantile: H. T. Weaver, chairman, H. B. Bender, sub-chairman; Industrial: C. B. Dougherty, chairman, Calvin Gilbert, sub-chairman; Civic: J. W. RESOLUTIONS

At Thursday evening's meeting the following resolutions were adopted by the Sons and Daughters of Liberty Council No. 119 of Gettysburg:

Whereas, God in His wise providence has taken from our midst our beloved Bro. Clark H. Stambaugh, and

Whereas, this council has lost a good and faithful member, Therefore be it

Resolved, that we deeply sympathize with the family and friends, and commend them for consolation to that Holy One, who doeth all things well, feeling sure that to them as to us there is comfort in the knowledge that he was a devoted son.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and spread on the minutes and published in our town paper.

Committee, Mrs. Emma Tipton, Gertie Legore and Mary Lott.

FAIR FOR FIGHT

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 2—A temperature between 80 and 85 degrees and generally fair weather was forecast today by the weather bureau for Dempsey-Carpentier fight tomorrow. There is a probability that the principals and spectators will not have to endure a broiling sun as the weather experts say it may not be absolutely clear over Boyle's thirty acres.

COTTON CROP LIGHT

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 2—Cotton production this year that promises to be the smallest crop of the last quarter of a century today, forecast by the Department of Agriculture places it at 8,433,000 bales or nearly 5,000,000 smaller than last year crop and nearly 8,000,000 below record crop in 1914. This year acreage is 28.4 per cent smaller than last years.

STORM DAMAGES CROPS

Vast Losses In Lancaster County By Cloudburst.

Vast damage to crops in the southern end of Lancaster county was done by a cloudburst Thursday afternoon. The district swept by the storm was between Quarryville and New Providence. A great amount of corn and tobacco was washed out and the standing wheat and oats was leveled. Small streams overflowed their banks and trolley cars and automobiles were stalled for several hours. Wire service was badly crippled.

OVERCOMES DEPRESSION

The cigar and tobacco industry in the York district is rapidly recovering from the depression which has gripped it during the past half year. The June receipts at the York office of the internal revenue department reflect a healthy revival. In fact the collections of the month show that the industry in that section has almost reached its normal level.

CUT WAGES AND RENTS

Pursuing its course of returning the Bethlehem Steel Company to pre-war basis, the Steelton plant of the company Thursday afternoon announced a cut of 15 per cent in wages, through General Manager Frank A. Robbins, Jr. At the same time there will be a 10 per cent cut for salaried employees.

In making the announcement yes-

AUDITOR'S NOTICE

In Re: Estate of Joseph Grim, late of Berwick township, Adams County, Pa., deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested that the undersigned, appointed by the Orphans Court of Adams County, Pa., Auditor to make distribution of the balance in hands of Amanda E. Grim, executrix of the last Will and Testament of said decedent, will sit at his office on Baltimore street, Gettysburg, Pa., on Friday, the 15th day of July, 1921, at 10 o'clock a. m., to discharge the duties of said appointment, when and where all persons interested may appear and be heard.

WILLIAM HERSH, Auditor.

terday, Mr. Robbins said that the salaried employees did not receive advances commensurate with the men working on the time schedule, and for that reason the reduction will not be so drastic. The present reduction, which takes effect July 16, will be the second this year, and will bring the per hour wage to 27 cents. January 16 the reduction, was from 40 to 32 cents, which is the present rate. The company will also reduce the rent of all its Steelton houses between 8 and 10 per cent, it was announced yesterday. This reduction wipes out any advances in rent made for the company houses during the last 15 years. Mr. Robbins said yesterday that the Steelton plant will continue to work on a 30 per cent of capacity basis, but that the wage reduction was necessary if the plant is to increase production.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Letters Testamentary on the estate of C. L. Sager, late of Mt. WANTED TWO MILLION HUSBANDS

There are two million women in England today compelled to go through life unmarried because there are no men for them to marry!

What are they going to do with themselves?

Is the "right to motherhood" doctrine gaining ground? Or will these two million surplus women find happiness in a "transmuted" motherhood?

Ida Clyde Clarke, who has just returned from England, discusses the whole burning question in Pictorial Review for June.

GALBRAITH'S LAST MESSAGE A PLEA TO PREVENT WAR

The American Legion today—Independence Day—gives to the world the last message of Col. F. W. Galbraith, Jr., late commander of the Legion. It was written shortly before he met a tragic death in an automobile accident at Indianapolis, June 9. In it Galbraith said he hoped to see a World Legion formed which would act to prevent future wars.

BY COL. F. W. GALBRAITH, JR.,
late Commander of the American Legion

I rejoice that today the American Legion has 2,000,000 members distributed among 11,000 local posts in every state, city, town and community in the United States, in all American overseas possessions and eighteen foreign countries.

Its membership embraces all classes except the extremely radical, all creeds, all shades of political opinion, all stations and conditions of life. Its aims are succinctly summed in the preamble of the national constitution of the organization which follows:

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America, to maintain law and order, to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of right; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

The American Legion has been called the best insurance policy a nation ever had. I believe it is. Two things are primarily responsible for the American Legion.

First: The heart of the republic is sound. Beneath our surface differences of opinion lies unshakable confidence in the wisdom of the institutions and ideals of government upon which the United States was founded and under which it has grown great. Second: The indefatigable labors of men and women who had the vision to conceive and the capacity to create the physical organization of the American Legion which should be the embodiment of those ideals. That is why the Legion is truly national and representative.

The American Legion stands a disinterested institution of service absolutely unique in American affairs. In two years it has attained a national prestige which has made it a virile factor in the public life of the republic.

The American Legion feels itself closer to Europe than any other group of Americans. The Legion is a member of the recently formed Inter-Allied Veterans Federation. Two Legion men are officers of that Federation and the rank and file of the Legion are at home waiting with the keenest interest the development of a veterans association on an international basis.

The Legion wants to play its modest part in the creation of such an association. We see no reason why the young Inter-Allied Federation cannot achieve for each and all of the affiliated allied nations what the American Legion has achieved for the United States.

And then it shall have merely paused on the threshold of its potential mission. The American Legion hopes to be a small part of an Inter-Allied Veterans Federation which may become powerful only if its motives are pure, and whose ultimate aspiration shall be to make impossible a recurrence of the horror from which the heart of the world still bleeds: WAR. With the organized veterans of the allied nations rests the voice of command. Will they speak?

The Year's Sensation

Mae Murray & David Powell

George Fitzmaurice's Best!

Here is the brilliant successor to "On With the Dance" and "The Right to Love"—a picture that is destined to eclipse the remarkable popularity attained by these previous George Fitzmaurice productions.

"Idols of Clay" is a flaming story of human hearts and human passions; a drama of love that embraces the languorous South Sea isles and a beautiful garden in Greece, the revels of London's bohemian society and the sinister dens of the famous Limehouse underworld. Produced with all the rich, luxurious settings and spectacular effects for which George Fitzmaurice is noted.

Beautiful Mae Murray and David Powell, who had so much to do with the wonderful success of "On With the Dance" and "The Right to Love," are the featured players in "Idols of Clay". The remainder of the cast is of the same excellent caliber. Ouida Bergere wrote the story.
